POP LIFE.

Everything Tori Kelly did and subsequently learned about herself in the last 10 years of her Grammy-winning career led to Tori, her seven-song EP released on July 28.

Kelly unveiled a return to her natural Brunette hair and R&B roots with "Missin U" in March. The video oozes Y2K, from the Juicy Couture Sidekick she adored as a preteen and performance shots saluting Aaliyah, Destiny's Child, Missy Elliott, and TLC. Ecstatic fans saw a "new" Kelly, while Kelly saw the "nerdy" 2000s kid who desperately wanted to express herself this way but needed time to develop the necessary confidence.

"I have a childhood picture of myself in my closet," Kelly told Uproxx days before staging her The Take Control Tour and dropping the deluxe version of Tori, which came out on September 15. "Every day, I'll get dressed, and I look at her, and I'm like, 'I feel like she'd be proud.'"

IN CASE YOU MISSED IT

Taylor Swift's classic cookie recipe is back, just a few weeks away from 1989 (Taylor's Version).

Ed Sheeran has an interesting feature tied to death in his backyard.

Fans might be wondering if a Fifth Harmony reunion is on the way.

Drake's new album might have had a diss at The Weeknd.

NUMBER ONE STUNNERS

DOJA CAT

Doja Cat is spending her third week at the top of the Hot 100 for "Paint The Town Red." So far, this is the longest she's been at the top, tripling her past record of her "Say So" collaboration with Nicki Minaj topping the charts for a week in 2020, according to Billboard.

NESSA BARRETT

Nessa Barrett returned this week with “Club Heaven,” an emotional tale of honoring a lost loved one at the parties you used to go to — which she dedicated to her late friend, Cooper Noriega. While it is a one-off single, Barrett has had a busy year. Over the summer, she dropped Hell Is A Teenage Girl, where she builds off an Americana-inspired aesthetic. I mean, one of the songs is fittingly titled “American Jesus,” where she rides around on the back of a guy’s motorcycle. For those who love Lana Del Rey and similar vibes, Barrett is building off those influences — and is definitely worth checking out.

REMEMBER WHEN

JANET JACKSON'S NO.1

On this day in 1986, Janet Jackson started the first of her two weeks at No. 1 for her song, "When I Think Of You." It marked her debut at the top of the singles chart, giving fans just a preview of the massive career she would go on to have. Because of this, Jackson and her brother (Michael Jackson, obviously) are the only siblings to both have solo chart-topping songs.

LOVE LETTERS

TROYE SIVAN

Troye Sivan's first album, Blue Neighborhood, was a high school Tumblr kid's dream — as he painted pictures of love and chaos through electronic production. Now, years later, Sivan is preparing to drop his next record, Something To Give Each Other, where he is continuing to push the boundaries. One of the lead singles, "Rush," was a club anthem but sparked an internet discussion upon its release. Sivan has since followed that up with "Got Me Started," pulling fans even further into his neon-colored world and onto the dancefloor.
